The Green Library Planner: What Every Librarian Needs to ... The librarian who is fortunate enough to be embarking on the construction of a new library space or renovation of an older library would not find a more comprehensive and thorough book than The Green Library Planner: What Every Librarian Needs to Know Before Starting to Build or Renovate, nor a more qualified author than Mary M. Carr, a librarian for forty years and a Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) accredited professional.

The green library planner: What every librarian needs to ... The Green Library Planner is designed for anyone interested in library design, but lacking architectural, construction or engineering expertise. It aims to introduce the rationale for green buildings, its elements and the language used in the field. It does this in sections, so you can read the entire book or just focus on the part that you need. The Green Library Planner: What Every Librarian Needs to ...
